

200 AI Prompts for Estate Agents

Copy. Paste. Close more deals.

Every prompt below is ready to paste into ChatGPT, Claude, or any AI assistant. Replace the [BRACKETS] with your details. Each section includes a quick tip on getting the best results.

Published by SWARM AI Systems — swarmaisystems.com

How to use this pack

1. Pick the prompt that matches your task.
2. Replace everything in [BRACKETS] with your specifics — the more detail, the better the output.
3. If the first answer isn't right, reply "make it more [formal/friendly/concise]" — the AI will refine it.
4. Never send AI output unchecked. Read it, tweak one line so it sounds like you, then send.

The golden rule: AI drafts, you decide. These prompts make you faster, not replaceable.

1. Winning New Instructions (20 prompts)

Tip: give the AI the property type, area, and seller situation — generic in, generic out.

1. Write a letter to a homeowner in [AREA] whose property has been on the market with another agent for over 12 weeks, explaining why relisting with a fresh approach gets better results. Warm, no criticism of the other agent.
2. Draft a script for a valuation appointment for a [PROPERTY TYPE] in [AREA]. Include: rapport-building questions, how to present my valuation confidently, and how to handle "another agent said it's worth more."
3. Write a follow-up message to a homeowner I valued 2 weeks ago who hasn't committed. Friendly, one useful piece of market news, no pressure.
4. Create a one-page "why choose us" summary for my agency. Our strengths: [LIST 3 STRENGTHS]. Audience: a couple in their 50s selling the family home.
5. Write 5 door-drop postcard headlines for [AREA] announcing we've just sold a house on their street for [PRICE/% of asking].
6. Draft a phone script for calling a homeowner who requested an online valuation but hasn't booked an in-person one.
7. Write an email to a landlord whose fixed-term tenancy ends in [MONTH], suggesting a free rental valuation given rent rises in [AREA].
8. Create a comparison sheet I can leave with sellers: "sole agency vs multi-agency" — honest pros and cons, ending with why sole agency usually nets more.
9. Write a warm re-approach message to a seller who chose a competitor 3 months ago and whose property is still listed.
10. Draft my response to a seller who says "we're going to try selling it ourselves first."
11. Write a script for asking happy sellers for referrals at the moment of completion — natural, not begging.
12. Create 10 conversation-openers for a networking event with local solicitors and mortgage brokers.
13. Write a letter to executors of a probate property in [AREA] — sensitive, helpful, zero sales pressure in the first contact.
14. Draft an email to a developer with [N] unsold new-build units, pitching our buyer database of [N] registered applicants.
15. Write my "about me" for the agency website: [YEARS] years in [AREA], [SPECIALISM], [ONE PERSONAL DETAIL]. Professional but human, under 150 words.
16. Create a script for the "what's your fee?" question that reframes from cost to net result.
17. Write a follow-up text (under 160 characters) after a valuation: friendly, confident, includes one next step.

18. Draft a "market update" letter for homeowners in [POSTCODE] with 3 genuinely useful local statistics: [STAT 1], [STAT 2], [STAT 3].
 19. Write my reply to "we want to wait until spring to list" — including the honest case for listing now (less competition, serious winter buyers).
 20. Create an anniversary message to owners we sold to exactly [1/2/5] years ago, with a current estimate range and a no-pressure offer to update the valuation.
-

2. Property Descriptions & Listings (20 prompts)

Tip: paste the raw details (rooms, sizes, features, area) and let the AI do the wordsmithing. Ban clichés explicitly.

21. Write a property description for: [PASTE ROOMS, SIZES, FEATURES, AREA]. No clichés — banned words: "stunning", "deceptively spacious", "must be seen". Lead with the single best feature.
22. Rewrite this tired listing so it sells a lifestyle, not a floor plan: [PASTE OLD DESCRIPTION].
23. Write 3 different opening lines for a listing of a [PROPERTY TYPE] whose best feature is [FEATURE] — one emotional, one factual, one question-based.
24. Create a 60-word "portal summary" version of this full description: [PASTE DESCRIPTION].
25. Write a description for a property that needs work — honest about condition, exciting about potential, aimed at renovators and investors.
26. Describe this small [PROPERTY TYPE] for first-time buyers: emphasise affordability, low bills, and the step onto the ladder — without the word "cosy".
27. Write a listing for a rental property targeting young professionals: [DETAILS]. Include commute times to [CITY/STATION].
28. Turn these estate-agent notes into a polished description: [PASTE ROUGH NOTES].
29. Write the "area guide" paragraph for [NEIGHBOURHOOD]: schools, transport, food, one insider detail only locals know: [DETAIL].
30. Create 5 photo captions for the social posts of this listing: [PROPERTY SUMMARY].
31. Write a description for a unique/quirky property ([WHAT MAKES IT UNUSUAL]) that attracts the right buyer instead of confusing the wrong one.
32. Draft a fresh description for a price-reduced property that reframes it as an opportunity without screaming "reduced!".
33. Write a luxury listing for [PROPERTY]: measured, understated tone — expensive things don't shout.
34. Create a bullet-point "key features" list (max 8 bullets) from this description, ordered by what buyers in [AREA] actually care about: [PASTE DESCRIPTION].
35. Write a description of a new-build plot from these developer specs, making it feel like a home rather than a spec sheet: [PASTE SPECS].
36. Draft the listing for a buy-to-let investment: lead with yield ([X]%), tenant demand in [AREA], and low-maintenance features.
37. Rewrite this description for an older audience downsizing: single-level living, low upkeep, nearby amenities: [PASTE DETAILS].

38. Write a "coming soon" teaser (2 sentences + call to action) for a [PROPERTY TYPE] in [AREA] to warm up our applicant list before launch.
 39. Turn this floor plan into a walk-through narrative, as if I'm guiding a buyer room to room: [DESCRIBE LAYOUT].
 40. Audit this listing like a picky buyer: what's vague, what's missing, what would make you scroll past? [PASTE LISTING].
-

3. Buyer Enquiries & Viewings (20 prompts)

Tip: speed wins — use these to reply fast, then personalise one line.

41. Write a reply to a portal enquiry about [PROPERTY] that answers their question, adds one detail not in the listing, and offers two specific viewing slots.
42. Draft a pre-viewing email that builds excitement: what to notice on arrival, parking info, and one question to think about during the viewing.
43. Write a post-viewing follow-up for a buyer who seemed keen — asks for honest feedback and gently tests intent, sent same day.
44. Create a script for calling a buyer whose viewing feedback was "we liked it but..." — designed to surface the real objection.
45. Write a message to a buyer who missed out on [PROPERTY], introducing [SIMILAR PROPERTY] with a genuine (not forced) comparison.
46. Draft the "difficult truth" message: buyer's budget is [BUDGET] but everything they want costs [REALITY]. Reset expectations kindly, keep them engaged.
47. Write 5 questions I should ask every new applicant to qualify them beyond "what's your budget?"
48. Create a viewing-confirmation text template with address, time, parking note, and my mobile — friendly, under 300 characters.
49. Write a reply to a buyer asking "would they take [LOW OFFER]?" before even viewing — encourages a viewing without dismissing them.
50. Draft an email to my applicant list announcing [NEW LISTING] — subject line + 3 sentences + viewing link.
51. Write a "we've had an offer" message to other interested parties that creates urgency without manufactured pressure.
52. Create a script for handling a no-show viewer: one polite reschedule offer, one boundary.
53. Write feedback to a seller from a viewing that went badly ([REASON]) — honest but constructive, with one suggested action.
54. Draft the message that revives a buyer who went quiet 3 weeks ago — new listing angle, market shift angle, or simple check-in: give me all three versions.
55. Write an open-house invitation for [PROPERTY] on [DATE] for our database + social — make it feel like an event, not a queue.
56. Create a first-time-buyer explainer: the 8 steps from offer to keys in plain English, one paragraph each.
57. Write a reply to an investor asking for the numbers on [PROPERTY]: rent estimate [X], yield calculation shown clearly, honest note on [RISK/COST].

58. Draft a message for overseas/remote buyers offering a video viewing, and a mini-script for what I'll show on the call.
 59. Write the tactful reply to a buyer whose offer was rejected, keeping them warm for either a renegotiation or the next property.
 60. Create a viewing-day checklist for me (agent) for [PROPERTY]: what to open, light, mention, and the one question to ask each viewer as they leave.
-

4. Negotiation & Offers (20 prompts)

Tip: these are drafting aids — the strategy calls are always yours. Give the AI both sides' positions for the best suggestions.

61. A buyer offered [OFFER] on a property listed at [ASKING]. Seller wants at least [FLOOR]. Draft my message to the buyer that keeps momentum and invites their best and final.
62. Write how I present a low offer to a seller: the offer, the buyer's position (chain-free/mortgage agreed/etc), and three response options with my recommendation of [OPTION].
63. Draft the "best and final offers by [DATE/TIME]" message to three competing buyers — fair, clear, identical for each.
64. Write a script for the negotiation where the survey found [ISSUE] and the buyer wants [REDUCTION] off. Seller thinks it's opportunistic. Find the middle path.
65. Create talking points to defend our valuation when the buyer's mortgage valuation came in [AMOUNT] under the agreed price.
66. Write the message that tells a first-time buyer their offer was accepted — celebrate, then immediately set out the 5 next steps with deadlines.
67. Draft how I tell a seller a buyer has reduced their offer after initially agreeing — facts first, options second, my recommendation last.
68. Write a message nudging a buyer who's been "deciding" on making an offer for 5 days, without pressure tactics.
69. Create a one-page explainer of gazumping for a nervous buyer: what it is, how common it really is, what protections exist.
70. Draft the call script for telling a buyer they've been outbid — leaves the door open for a counter without false hope.
71. Write my response to a buyer's solicitor requesting [UNUSUAL CONDITION] — professional pushback, suggest the standard alternative.
72. Help me reframe for a seller: offer on the table is [OFFER], they want [TARGET]. Show them the real cost of 3 more months on market (mortgage, price drift, chain risk) vs accepting now.
73. Write the message that keeps BOTH parties calm when completion dates clash: buyer needs [DATE A], seller needs [DATE B]. Propose two workable compromises.
74. Draft a chain-update email to all parties that's honest about the delay at [POINT IN CHAIN] without naming and shaming.
75. Create my script for renegotiating fees when a seller asks for a discount — includes one concession I can offer that isn't price: [e.g. enhanced marketing, shorter tie-in].
76. Write the "walk away" advice to a buyer overpaying by [AMOUNT] in a bidding war — the counsel that costs me commission but wins a client for life.

77. Draft how I handle two buyers at identical offers: the fair process, communicated identically to both.
 78. Write a persuasive case to a seller for accepting the chain-free buyer at [LOWER OFFER] vs the chained buyer at [HIGHER OFFER] — with the real completion-risk statistics framing.
 79. Create the message to restart a stalled negotiation where both sides went silent 10 days ago at [GAP] apart.
 80. Write my notes template for logging every offer: parties, amount, position, conditions, expiry, seller response — so nothing lives in my head.
-

5. Vendor Care & Difficult Conversations (20 prompts)

Tip: the harder the conversation, the more context to give the AI: what was promised, what happened, how the client reacts to bad news.

81. Write my weekly update to a seller with NO viewings this week — honest, includes one proactive action I'm taking, never filler.
82. Draft the price-reduction conversation for a seller [N] weeks in at [PRICE] with [N] viewings and no offers. Include the data that makes the case for [NEW PRICE].
83. Write an apology to a seller after [MISTAKE — e.g. wrong photos went live] — owns it fully, states the fix, no weasel words.
84. Create a script for telling a seller their house smells of [SMOKE/PETS/DAMP] and it's costing them viewings — kind, direct, with the fix.
85. Draft the message when a sale falls through at survey stage: what happened, what happens next, why this isn't the end.
86. Write my response to a seller threatening to switch agents at week [N] — no grovelling, a concrete 14-day action plan, and a clean exit offered if it doesn't deliver.
87. Create the "your expectations vs the market" conversation for a seller who wants [PRICE] when comparables say [RANGE] — respectful, evidence-led.
88. Write a condolence-appropriate update for a probate sale executor — warm, efficient, aware of the circumstances.
89. Draft how I tell a seller their chosen buyer's finances have collapsed, and present the backup buyer at [LOWER OFFER] in the same message.
90. Write the "declutter and depersonalise" advice email with a room-by-room checklist — motivating, not insulting.
91. Create a response to a seller who's angry the neighbour's house sold for more — the 4 honest factors that explain the difference: [FACTORS].
92. Write my script for recommending professional photography/staging costing [PRICE] to a reluctant seller — framed by return, with a real example.
93. Draft the update when the buyer's solicitor has gone quiet for 2 weeks — what I've done, what I'm doing next, realistic timeline.
94. Write a message managing a seller who calls daily for updates — warm boundary-setting with a fixed update schedule that still makes them feel prioritised.
95. Create the conversation for when I think the seller should reject an offer — my reasoning, the risk I'm taking by saying so, their call to make.
96. Draft my response to a bad online review from [SITUATION] — professional, factual, shows future clients how we handle criticism.

97. Write the completion-day message to a seller: congratulations, key logistics, and the referral ask done gracefully.
 98. Create a 6-touch post-completion care sequence (day 1, week 2, month 3, month 6, year 1, year 2) — 2 sentences each, zero sales until month 6.
 99. Write how I tell a landlord their long-term tenant is leaving AND the market rent has dropped [X]% — both bits of bad news, one constructive plan.
 100. Draft my "we need to talk about the photos" message when a seller insists on using their own phone pictures.
-

6. Social Media & Content Marketing (20 prompts)

Tip: batch these — generate a month of content in one sitting, then schedule.

101. Create a month's content calendar for my agency's Instagram/Facebook: 3 posts a week mixing new listings, local area content, tips, and social proof. Area: [AREA]. Audience: [WHO].
102. Write a "just sold" post for [PROPERTY] — celebrates the sellers' next chapter, not just our sale. No sold price bragging.
103. Draft 10 hyper-local post ideas that have nothing to do with selling houses (café openings, school news, community events) for [AREA] — the trust-building layer.
104. Write a 30-second video script: "3 things making [AREA] houses sell slower right now" — hook in the first 3 seconds, straight to camera.
105. Create a myth-busting carousel: 5 slides, "5 things buyers think that aren't true", one line each + punchy final slide.
106. Write a "day in the life of an estate agent" post — honest, a bit funny, humanises the job: include [REAL DETAIL FROM MY WEEK].
107. Draft a market-update post for [MONTH]: 3 local stats, what they mean in plain English, one-line prediction. No jargon.
108. Write 5 hooks for short videos about [TOPIC — e.g. first-time buying] — each under 10 words, each impossible to scroll past.
109. Create a "meet the team" post for [NAME, ROLE, YEARS, QUIRK] — warm, 80 words.
110. Write a before/after post about a listing we relaunched with new photos/price that then sold — the lesson, not the gloat.
111. Draft a poll/question post that gets homeowners commenting (engagement bait done tastefully) — 5 options.
112. Write the "why your house isn't selling" post — the 4 honest reasons, delivered kindly, no listing-shaming.
113. Create a testimonial post template: client quote [QUOTE], context line, thank-you, subtle call to action.
114. Write a "what [PRICE] buys you in [AREA] vs [NEARBY AREA]" comparison post — genuinely useful, shareable.
115. Draft a LinkedIn post about a hard lesson from [YEARS] in estate agency — professional storytelling, not humblebragging.
116. Write a script for a 60-second walkthrough reel of [PROPERTY]: what to show first, the mid-video hook, the ending call to action.
117. Create a "moving house checklist" lead magnet outline (10 sections) + the 3 social posts that promote the free download.

118. Write a seasonal post: "[SEASON] is coming — 5 jobs that protect your house price" for [AREA] homeowners.
 119. Draft my response templates for social comments: the price question, the "agents are all crooks" jab, and the genuine enquiry — one each.
 120. Write a "we're hiring" post that attracts good negotiators, honest about the hard bits of the job: [ROLE, PACKAGE].
-

7. Email Campaigns & Newsletters (20 prompts)

Tip: one email, one job. Tell the AI the single action you want the reader to take.

121. Write a monthly newsletter for [AREA] homeowners: market snapshot, one local story, one property of the month, one tip. 350 words max, [AGENCY] voice.
122. Draft a re-engagement email to applicants inactive for 90+ days — subject line + short body, asks one question: "still looking?"
123. Write a 3-email sequence for new valuation leads: instant (thanks + what happens next), day 2 (useful guide), day 7 (soft booking ask).
124. Create the email announcing our fee offer [OFFER DETAILS] to previous valuation contacts who didn't list — value first, offer second.
125. Write an email to our buyer database about a price reduction on [PROPERTY] — frame as opportunity, include the one number that matters.
126. Draft a "state of the market" email for landlords: rents in [AREA], legislation change [CHANGE], one action to take this quarter.
127. Write the subject line 10 ways for this email: [PASTE EMAIL] — mix curiosity, benefit, and urgency styles; no clickbait.
128. Create an automated birthday/anniversary email for past clients that doesn't feel automated.
129. Write a win-back email for a seller who withdrew from the market 6 months ago — market's changed by [CHANGE], zero pressure.
130. Draft the email introducing a new service [SERVICE] to existing clients — lead with the problem it solves.
131. Write a referral-programme email: refer a friend who lists, get [INCENTIVE] — clear, legal-safe, warm.
132. Create a holiday-period auto-reply that maintains service levels: who to contact, when I'm back, what happens with viewings/offers meanwhile.
133. Write the email that gets a chain moving — to solicitors/agents up and down the chain, requesting a status round-robin by [DATE].
134. Draft an event invitation: first-time buyer evening with [MORTGAGE BROKER] on [DATE] — agenda, why come, one-click RSVP.
135. Write a "thank you for 10 years in [AREA]" email to our whole database — genuine gratitude, one milestone stat, no ask.
136. Create the email sequence for new landlords onboarding with us: what we do, what we need from them, key dates. 3 emails.
137. Write a plain-text style personal email (no design, no images) from me to my top 20 past clients — the market's shifted, here's the honest picture, call me if useful.

138. Draft the GDPR-friendly re-consent email that keeps as much of the list as possible — states value plainly.
 139. Write a segmented pair of emails announcing the same new listing: one for investors (yield angle), one for families (schools/space angle).
 140. Create a quarterly "your home's estimated value" email format that makes owners open it every quarter without fail.
-

8. Admin, Ops & Time-Savers (20 prompts)

Tip: these save the hours between the deals — paste real (anonymised) text and let the AI restructure it.

141. Summarise this rambling client phone-call note into: situation, what they want, action items, deadline: [PASTE NOTES].
142. Turn these viewing notes into professional feedback for the vendor: [PASTE ROUGH NOTES].
143. Write a handover document for my colleague covering my [N] active sales while I'm away: template with parties, stage, next action, risks per sale.
144. Draft a memorandum of sale from these details: [BUYER, SELLER, PROPERTY, PRICE, CONDITIONS, SOLICITORS].
145. Create a checklist for listing a new property from valuation to live-on-portals — every step, owner for each, target timings.
146. Rewrite this clause from the solicitor into plain English for my client: [PASTE CLAUSE]. Flag anything they should query.
147. Turn this month's sales figures into 3 bullet points for the team meeting: [PASTE NUMBERS].
148. Write a polite chaser to [SOLICITOR/SURVEYOR/LENDER] on day [N] of waiting — escalation level [1 gentle / 2 firm / 3 formal].
149. Create a viewing schedule for Saturday from these requests, minimising my drive time between [ADDRESSES + REQUESTED TIMES].
150. Draft the standard tenancy renewal letter with the rent increase from [OLD] to [NEW] — compliant tone, justification, options.
151. Build me a weekly time-block template: prospecting, viewings, vendor calls, admin, content — I work [HOURS] and my highest-value activity is [ACTIVITY].
152. Write the job ad for a [ROLE] at our agency: real responsibilities, real package [PACKAGE], the personality that thrives here.
153. Turn this compliance requirement into a one-page team briefing: [PASTE REGULATION/CHANGE].
154. Create interview questions for hiring a negotiator — 5 that reveal how they actually handle pressure, not rehearsed answers.
155. Draft the office holiday-cover rota announcement and the client-facing message about festive opening hours.
156. Summarise this 20-page property report into the 5 things my buyer actually needs to know: [PASTE KEY SECTIONS].
157. Write my end-of-day 5-minute review template: deals moved, deals stuck, tomorrow's one big thing.

158. Create a "new starter first week" onboarding plan for a junior joining our sales team.
 159. Turn my scribbled market-appraisal notes into a formal valuation report structure: [PASTE NOTES].
 160. Draft feedback for a team member who's great with clients but drowning in admin — constructive, specific, with one system to try.
-

9. Local Market Knowledge & Reports (20 prompts)

Tip: the AI doesn't know current local data — YOU provide the numbers, it does the framing, writing, and comparisons.

161. Turn these raw numbers into a homeowner-friendly market report for [AREA]: average price [X], change [Y]%, average days on market [Z], sales volume [N]. What does it mean for sellers right now?
162. Write a first-time-buyer guide to [AREA]: typical prices by property type [PASTE], the trade-offs vs [NEARBY AREA], and the streets that hold value best [STREETS].
163. Create a landlord yield comparison for [AREA]: purchase prices and rents for 1-bed, 2-bed, 3-bed [PASTE DATA] — table plus 3 conclusions.
164. Draft talking points on how [LOCAL DEVELOPMENT — e.g. new train line/school/retail park] typically affects nearby property values — balanced, with the caveats.
165. Write the "should I sell now or wait?" analysis for a homeowner, using: current rate [RATE], local price trend [TREND], their situation [SITUATION]. Honest both-ways answer.
166. Compare [AREA A] vs [AREA B] for a relocating family: schools [DATA], commute [DATA], prices [DATA] — neutral, useful, positions me as the area expert.
167. Turn this quarter's data into 5 tweet-length market insights for [AREA]: [PASTE DATA].
168. Write an explainer: why identical houses on [STREET A] and [STREET B] differ by [AMOUNT] — school catchment, aspect, parking, the honest factors.
169. Create a "new to [AREA]" welcome guide I can gift buyers: registration essentials (GP, council, schools admissions) + my 5 local recommendations [LIST].
170. Draft my commentary on this national headline for our local audience: [PASTE HEADLINE] — what it actually means (or doesn't) for [AREA].
171. Write a school-catchment explainer for [AREA]: how catchment actually works here, the myth vs reality, and the premium the data shows [DATA IF ANY].
172. Build a renovation ROI cheat-sheet for [AREA]: typical value added by loft conversion, extension, new kitchen [LOCAL FIGURES] vs typical costs.
173. Create the "cost of waiting" calculation framework: if prices move [X]% and rates move [Y]%, what happens to a [BUDGET] buyer's monthly payment? Show the working.
174. Write an honest piece: "what [AREA] streets are undervalued right now and why" — based on my local knowledge: [MY OBSERVATIONS].
175. Turn auction results [PASTE] into a "what sold under the hammer" monthly roundup with one lesson per lot.
176. Draft a stamp-duty explainer with worked examples at [PRICE POINTS] for first-time buyers, movers, and investors — current rules as I paste them here: [PASTE CURRENT RULES].

177. Create a seasonal market rhythm guide for [AREA]: when listings peak, when buyers peak, the best listing windows — using my data: [DATA].
 178. Write the new-build vs period property comparison for [AREA] buyers: running costs, warranties, character, resale — fair to both.
 179. Summarise land registry data [PASTE] into the 3 trends estate agents in [AREA] should act on this quarter.
 180. Build my "valuation evidence pack" structure: how to present 5 comparables [PASTE THEM] so the seller reaches my number before I say it.
-

10. Growth, Reviews & Referrals (20 prompts)

Tip: reputation compounds — automate the asking, personalise the thanking.

181. Write the review request I send on completion day — 2 sentences, one link, impossible to resent.
182. Create 3 variants of the review-request follow-up for clients who said "sure!" but never left one — escalating warmth, never pushy.
183. Draft my grateful, specific reply to this 5-star review: [PASTE REVIEW].
184. Write the recovery playbook reply to this 2-star review: [PASTE REVIEW] — acknowledges, corrects the record factually, invites the offline conversation.
185. Create a referral-partner pitch to a local [MORTGAGE BROKER/SOLICITOR/REMOVALS FIRM]: what we send them, what we'd like back, how we keep it compliant.
186. Write a "thank you for the referral" note + [GIFT/GESTURE] message that makes people want to refer again.
187. Draft the case study of a tricky sale: [SITUATION → WHAT WE DID → RESULT] in 200 words for the website — client anonymised.
188. Create my Google Business Profile description ([CHARACTER LIMIT] chars): area, specialism, proof point, personality.
189. Write 5 questions for a video testimonial interview with a happy client — questions that produce stories, not adjectives.
190. Draft the community sponsorship announcement: we're sponsoring [LOCAL TEAM/EVENT] — why it matters to us beyond logos.
191. Create a "client for life" plan: every touchpoint from completion to their NEXT sale in 7 years — mapped by month/year with the message theme for each.
192. Write the annual "your street report" for past clients: what sold on [STREET] this year [DATA], their estimated equity movement, warm sign-off.
193. Draft my elevator pitch (30 seconds, spoken) for when someone at a party asks what I do — memorable, not salesy.
194. Create the win-announcement for our team hitting [MILESTONE] — celebrates clients and team, not just the number.
195. Write a partnership proposal to [LOCAL BUSINESS] for a co-branded moving-in gift box for buyers.
196. Draft the "why we're different" page for our website — 3 proof-backed claims, zero adjectives without evidence: [PROOF POINTS].
197. Create a quarterly client-advisory-board invite: 6 past clients, coffee, "tell us what we should fix" — the email that gets busy people to say yes.

198. Write my personal LinkedIn headline and about section as [NAME], [ROLE] in [AREA] — authority without arrogance.
 199. Draft the 12-month plan to become "the [AREA] agent" on one social platform: content pillars, cadence, the 3 metrics that matter.
 200. Write the letter to my future self to open in 12 months: this year's goals [GOALS], the standard I'm holding myself to, and what I'll do when I want to cut corners.
-

Bonus: Getting 10x more from every prompt

- Stack context. Start any session with: "You're an expert UK estate agency coach. My agency: [NAME], area: [AREA], my role: [ROLE]." Every answer after that gets sharper.
- Ask for variants. Add "give me 3 versions: safe, bold, and unexpected" to any writing prompt.
- Feed it your voice. Paste 2-3 things you've written and add: "match this tone in everything you write for me."
- Make it critique. After any draft: "Now be a sceptical homeowner reading this. What don't you believe?"
- Never paste client personal data. Anonymise names, addresses, and financial details before using any AI tool — treat compliance as non-negotiable.

© SWARM AI Systems — swarmaisystems.com Questions or want AI running your whole enquiry pipeline? That's literally what we build. Get a £99 Business Diagnostic at swarmaisystems.com/start